

Local resident inducted into professional Who's Who

For the Republican

Darcy Wilkinson Keith of Fishers, daughter of Darrel and Ramona Wilkinson of Rushville, has been inducted into the Global Register's Who's Who in Executives and Professionals, 2006-2007 edition for her success in the public speaking field.

Keith also has been selected by Ball State University as Graduate of the Last Decade award winner in 2000, and was recognized and interviewed by WXIN Fox 59 TV, Indianapolis, as an Unsung Hero earlier this year.

She is an accomplished speaker and has obtained her Competent Toastmaster designation as well as serving as a charter member of Toastmaster's Talking Heads Club 791 and a member of Beacon Professional Toastmasters in Indianapolis. She has touched many lives through her work with the Indianapolis Neurosurgical Group since 1994. Through the international program Think First, she makes many classroom presentations about her recovery process from accident injuries. She has touched thousands of student by sharing how her life changed in one instant as a result of making a wrong decision.

Keith volunteers up to two weeks of her personal vacation time every year to make these appearances. Her main goal in this work is to promote brain injury prevention, especially with teenage audiences, who are especially vulnerable to these injuries.

In addition to public speaking, Keith is employed as a commercial insurance underwriter for State Auto Insurance in Indianapolis where she has worked since 1996. She lives in Fishers with her husband Chris and daughter Olivia.
